SUMMER RHYME.

Leaf on the bough and fly on, the wing,
Birds that sing, winds that swing,
Roses thickly clustering.
Woodbine blossoms that clamber and cling,
Ferns that fresh in the woodland spring,
Flowers that sweet to the breezes fling,
Babble of streams and drip of wells,
Golden gleams and balmy smells,
Bees a-buzz in odorous dells—
What is the world their gladness tells,
What the bliss they bring?

Summer is loose and spring's away;
Hearts be gay; pipe and play,
Revel and laugh the livelong day,
Bind the brow with the bloom of May,
Lave the limbs in the foam and spray,
Whirl in the dance at evening gray,
Beat the moss with lithesome feet,
Tumble and toss the hay in the heat,
Stray in the grass, stray in the wheat—
This is the bliss of their burden sweet,
These the words they say.

Cassville Soldiers' Orphans' School.

THE EXAMINATION.

The prosperity of the Cassville Soldiers' Orphans' School is clearly indicated in the recent annual examination of its pupils, held July 22d, 1869. Officers, teachers, scholars, friends, all appeared happy and joyous, in view of the day and exercises before them. It was the children's day, or appointment, and they were ready to enjoy it. Col. McFarland, State Superintendent, assisted by Prof. James L. Rankin, of Madison, Ind., W. G. Marple, of White Hall Orphans' School, and Prof. A. L. Guss, Principal, examined the school, and were very instructive and interesting in their remarks upon each of the branches of study as they were presented by the classes. The spelling was good; in reading the articulation and pronunciation clear and distinct; the writing most excellent; arithmetic, grammar, geography, history, physiology, creditable; the department of the children correct, and the visitors well pleased. There was much to instruct, strengthen and enlarge the heart, and the results will doubtless be cheering to the friends and teachers, and beneficial to the school.

The following were the averages in the higher grades and studies at the examination:

Seventh Grade—Spelling 87, reading 88, being the highest average attained in any of the schools; writing 80, intellectual arithmetic 81, written arithmetic 73, geography 78, grammar 83, physiology 82.

Fifth Grade—Spelling 82, reading 81, writing 64, intellectual arithmetic 72, written arithmetic 66.

Fourth Grade—Spelling 78, reading 81, writing 61, intellectual arithmetic 75, written arithmetic 76.

THE SINGING,

However, was the charm of the occasion. Under its touching and magic influence, even the intense heat of the weather was for the time, forgotten. The admirably selected pieces, the well trained and modulated voices of the singers, held the assembly enchained and enraptured, and the hours sped by in such an excess of delight, as to leave the horror almost unconscious of its flight. This department is under the immediate charge of Prof. A. H. Weidman and Captain W. L. Owens, whose accomplishments as vocalists, as well as their plan of imparting instruction to others, is peculiar to themselves; and we may justly say that the swelling of 206 voices simultaneously, causing the walls of the institution to echo to the surrounding hills the accent of their musical voices, was magnificently grand, and gave full attestation to correctness of instruction, and spoke the ability of their teachers in song.

NUMBER OF PUPILS.

Since the opening of this Institution 37 boys and 25 girls who have arrived at the age of 16, have enjoyed its advantages, while the instruction imparted has rendered them useful as members of society, and capable of sustaining themselves by their own industry. Of the whole number admitted into the school, there were 158 boys and 124 girls. Of those now present there are 111 boys and 95 girls, all of which enjoy a high degree of health, and not a single death has occurred in the institution since its organization, Nov. 6th, 1865.

THE STATE SUPERINTENDENT.

It is designed by Col. McFarland, the State Superintendent, that the literary progress of the Soldiers' Orphan Schools shall be made more manifest; that education of the highest type be here introduced and taught, intellectually and physically; that the orphans may improve the advantages which Pennsylvania offers them. We have at the head of these schools a man thoroughly devoted to the work, and one who will permit no opportunity to promote their advancement to pass unimproved. He has already done good service for the past three years, and he is as energetic as ever, and will no doubt accomplish much more.

ORDER OF STUDY AND RECITATIONS.

Let me play the cicerone and courteously invite you to go through the establishment and see the practicability of the institution. School is called at 7.40 A. M.; worship over by 8; exercises each day, eight hours; yet, each child is only in school six hours; there is a regular detail system, by which one-fourth of the pupils are otherwise engaged. The school is divided according to classes, into the first, second, third and fourth details. The first is out from eight to ten; the second, from ten to twelve; the third, from one to three, and the fourth, from three to five.

There are seven grades, the seventh constituting one class, the sixth two, the fifth one, the fourth one, the third two, the second three, and the first two. Each of these grades study as many branches as they are fitted to pursue. The seventh is the higher grade. Eventually, there will be nine grades, and the course more thorough. Each recitation occupies one half hour, the assigned lesson being studied the half hour previous, in the presence of one of the instructors; and this is kept up, half hour after half hour, and though a recess, a dinner hour, a detail, or even a night intervenes, still it is true, that whenever a pupil is called upon to recite, they had the last half hour previous of school duty, to prepare that lesson. All studying is done in the main study hall under the charge of one of the teachers each half hour, and only during the regular school hours. Six teachers are constantly employed, and hear fifty-six recitations daily. The teachers are as follows:

Principal Instructor—A. H. Weidman.

Male Teachers—S. W. Heaton, Capt. W. L. Owens and William Lyttle.

DETAIL AND LABOR—GIRLS.

Immediately after worship in the morning one-third of the girls go to the sewing-room—Mrs. M. C. McCauley in charge, assisted by Mrs. Schott, Miss Mattie Gebrett, and Miss P. Henlon;—where they are taught all kinds of plain sewing, the older girls using the machines. Others report to the Matron, Miss D. H. Rindlaub, who distributes them to the various departments: some to the kitchen where Miss E. J. Kurtz gives them instruction in the art of cooking; some to the dining hall to await the commands of Miss M. C. McMannmy; some to the wash-room where Mrs. L. Fulton and Miss Julia Rindlaub conduct the exercises; some to the bake-room to execute the orders of Mrs. B Rambler; some to third hall to support Miss C. Fulton in taking care of the clothing, in making beds, in scrubbing floors, &c. The whole presenting a busy and lively scene. Details are regularly changed, that all can take part in the different kinds of labor.

DETAIL AND LABOR—BOYS.

Attached to the institution is a splendid farm containing 75 acres, some 60 acres being cleared and under a judicious state of cultivation. This department (called the industrial) is under the supervision of Mr. J. H. Rindlaub, an experienced gardener and farmer; under whose auspices the farm has attained to its present excellence. Yonder is a detail of boys reporting to the male attendant, (Capt. G. W. Guss, who has charge of the boys' clothing, sleeping rooms, military drill, &c.,) for duty; according to orders previously received from the gardener, they wend their way to the farm a fourth mile distant. Yonder is one of the older boys with hoes and cultivator turning up the soil between the rows of corn, while a smaller one rides to keep the animal in right direction; immediately after follows the clattering of hoes—the mingling voices of the detail singing a merry refrain; every hill must be carefully dressed, every blade of grass cut off. Over by the woods another group is plowing and hoeing in the potato patch; another group in the garden, digging, planting, and weeding; another group in the buildings running machines, sweeping and scrubbing apartments; George is preparing oven wood; William is sweeping yard and board walks; fifteen minutes of 10 bell taps; hoes drop; machines stop; detail repairs to study; detail No. 2, marches to the same tune of detail No. 1; fifteen minutes of 12, bell taps; School repairs to dinner in two lines—one of boys, and the other of girls, to the command of "attention," "right dress," "right face," "forward march" Please step into the dining hall. Stay one half hour, hear the babbling of 200 and more voices mingling with the rattling plates. See the beans, peas and potatoes disappear before devouring appetites. Their disciplined labor bids them eat, and at it they go. Remember that group at table No. 3 just returned from a field where 10,000 cabbage plants carpet the ground with swelling beauty; that group at table No 4, has just left a field where corn glows with glossy green; that group at No. 6, has been hoeing where one thousand bushels of potatoes are appareled in living beauty. No wonder these children impress you by their healthful appearance—the absence of languid spirits and postures. Their general appearance would assure you, if you did not know it before, that there is but little disease and sickness in the institution. Your next impression is one of wonder, when we confidently tell you that sickness has not deterred one pupil from spending vacation at home. Thanks to Dr. Guss and Mrs. McManamay, the sick nurse, for their care and success in keeping the Hospital destitute of inmates.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

Possibly there never was suggested any project for the public good which, in practice, has proved so generally successful as have the Soldiers' Orphan Schools of Pennsylvania, to supplement an education in which both the mental and physical faculties are properly cultivated, and which will enable these institutions to rival the highest grade of private schools, or possibly compete with the colleges, and universities of our land.

Let us give a few moments to the examination of the circumstances. We claim to have in this institution 206 children; all these are children whose parents depend for subsistence upon their daily toil, and consequently are not likely to be able to provide permanently for their children's future welfare, in a pecuniary point of view. Many, especially in our manufacturing localities, require their children to labor during the years of their early youth, in mills and manufactories, and thus in part at least support themselves. To these the Soldiers' Orphan Schools are all important; for, to a very considerable portion they are the only means afforded for school education.

There are many children who pass into, but do not pass through the common school, leaving comparatively few who pass through and beyond it. Now, when it is considered how little beside the plain fundamental rules is practiced, or even recollected, in the active duties of business life, it seems conclusive that duty lies in making the course in these Orphan Schools more thorough, and thus sufficient to enable their pupils to attain to a respectable position in any walk of life they are likely to reach.

The simple fact is, there exists a sadly demoralizing evil, which is greatly extending in our country. I mean the idea that honest labor with the hands is disreputable, and that the labor of the head is far more respectable. The professional and commercial callings are greatly overstocked, and the supply is being largely augmented every year, while the mechanical branches of employment are almost entirely neglected, and nearly our whole supply of mechanical labor obtained from abroad.

I do not say how far our Soldiers' Orphan Schools have contributed to these results; but I do say that this institution is awakening to the fact that there has been far too much cramming of the minds of children, and that their bodies and minds also are the worse for it. Education from text books cannot make the man; but any education of substantial, wholesome quality, established upon universal principles, will enable the man to work his own way to success, if accompanied by industry and perseverance.

THE RELIGIOUS ELEMENT.

A great majority of the teachers of this institution are professing christians; and a truly godly man or woman, at the head of a school, though never speaking a word directly on the subject of religion, yet by the power of a silent, consistent example exerts a continual christian influence. In the next place as a matter of fact, direct religious teaching is not entirely excluded. The Bible is read daily; it is appealed to as ultimate authority in questions of history or morals, it is quoted for illustration in questions of taste; it is in fact a text book for direct study. In the next places all the children attend the Sabbath School—the latter supplementing the instructions of the former. The case therefore, is not that of an education purely intellectual; moral and religious instruction accompanies the instruction in worldly knowledge.

The Sabbath School, the intellectual, and the industrial, by their combined and censeless activities, infuse into our course of elementary education a much larger religious ingredient than a stranger might suppose, who should confine his examination to a mere inspection of our School, or to the reading of our annual reports. Once established this truly effective system of education will spread rapidly over our country, and supply one of our greatest needs.

PROF. A. L. GUSS, A. M.

Prof. Guss is certainly deserving the gratitude of the public for the manner in which he is conducting the Soldiers' Orphans' School of Cassville. He has made the Institution useful to the teacher—valuable to the orphan—interesting to the mother—entertaining to the stranger. The Professor has doubtless the best of reasons for supposing his labors are appreciated, and that his object is recognized, for all visitors are singularly unanimous in expressions of approval. His intercourse with the children is characterized by a peculiar discipline—firm but with an open and generous heart. They are his constant companions; lean upon, caress, and consult him about the most trivial matters. The father who shed his life blood upon the issues of Freedom and Nationality, has for his child, no greater, no better, no kinder parent, than Prof. Guss. May the boy in wiping the tear of orphanage from his brow, realize that the touching bond which unites him to a man whose heart forever beats with the vestal fire of patriotism can never be severed, but remain untarnished through time and eternity. ☞It is estimated that the South this year will sell 3,000,000 bales of cotton, and that she will receive as much therefor as 6,000,000 bales would have brought before the war. At these prices, it is also estimated that in the year 1870 the South will be richer than she would be had not the war occurred, and had slavery continued. The Southern people are not so badly off after all.

The Great Natural Wonder.

COLORADO CANON—INTERESTING STORY.

We find in the last number of the Western Monthly, a very charming story entitled "Lost and Found in the Rocky Mountains," which throws considerable light upon the wondrous Colorado canon. The story is by J. E. Hood, formerly associate editor of the Springfield Republican, and while Karl is a fictitious name, the essential facts are to be relied upon:

The traditions of the Pueblos tell of an immense population of their ancestors inhabiting the basin of the Colorado and its tributaries, in a time long past, when the country was well watered and like a garden, and gold was common in every house. From this region the Montezumas are supposed to have received those abundant treasures that tempted the cupidity of the Spaniards to conquest, and the extermination of a helpless race.

Karl took as many of the golden images and curious implements as he could conveniently carry upon his person and in his wallet of provisions, and started again upon his solitary journey. Every day the river grew wider and deeper, and it soon occurred to Karl that he might take advantage of its current and economize his own strength. He accordingly devoted a day to the construction of a raft, from such dry limbs of trees as he could collect and bind together with strips of hide from his wallet. The structure was not very firm, but he trusted himself to its frail support, and for two or three days the voyage was most delightful. The country through which he passed was striking in its scenery. At some points high cliffs rose close to one side of the stream, while on the other charming valleys, fragrant with flowers and gay with brilliant and musical birds, spread out to the foot of some neighboring mountain. Several times he had glimpses of clusters of Pueblos like those he had visited. Occasionally the river would contract suddenly between precipitous banks and sweep him onward with fearful impetuosity. At length, just after sunset one afternoon, he felt his speed rapidly accelerating, and before he could make an attempt to touch the shore he was plunging and whirling down rapids into a deep chasm. He clung firmly to the raft and was soon in comparatively calm water; but the current was still very swift. The canon grew narrow again, and its black walls towered a tremendous height over his head. There was no recourse but to drift on with the current, into the darkness and to prob

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR:

JOHN W. GEARY,

OF CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

FOR JUDGE SUPREME COURT:

HENRY W. WILLIAMS,

OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

☞Vermont takes initiative in offering an amendment to its State Constitution extending the right to vote to women. We will wait and see how many women's heads can be turned.

☞Is Packer one of the "bloated bondholders" we read so much about? If not, why isn't he, if he was as loyal during the late "unpleasantness" as his friends claim that he was?

☞Where's Bill McMullen? We havn't heard of him since he finished up his little job in Harrisburg, on the 14th of July. Bill, certainly, has not subsided so soon.

☞Who is Pershing? That's what's the matter: A Democratic friend wants to know. Will some member of the "disinterested patriot party," enlighten us, so that we can enlighten our friends?

☞An overwhelming Democratic victory in Kentucky is announced. This is about the only cheering news the Democrats may expect between this and —— well, the next time Kentucky votes.

☞Any honest Democrat (alas, too few) will tell you that Asa Packer has no particular merit, except in his millions. And he will also admit that his party expect to elect him by and through his money-bags alone.

THE TENNESSEE ELECTION.—The election in Tennessee last week resulted in the election of Senter, Conservative for Governor, by thirty or forty thousand majority. The Legislature is largely Democratic, and it is generally conceded that Ex. President Andy Johnson will be elected United States Senator.

☞The Journal and American gave notice last week that it would not support certain men for election if nominated by the Republican Convention. We don't claim to be the "organ" of the party, but we pledge our support to the ticket, no matter who may be placed upon it.

☞Mr. Packer says: "My reliance, in accepting the position of candidate, and in agreeing to perform executive service for the people, is not alone upon my own strength." No, because his own strength is out of the question. His main reliance is upon his $20,000,000, which is expected to do good service in the present campaign.

☞The friends of the soldier in the Democratic party are sorry that Hancock only received 21 votes out of 133 in the Democratic Convention. Why, don't you know that he fought against the rebels, and helped to hang Mrs. Surratt? Packer never did this. He fled from the country, and furnished neither his blood, treasure, or services to quell that rebellion.

☞We do not think the Democratic party mean to be opposed to the 15th Amendment as much as their papers represent. We don't believe it because Virginia don't think so; because Tennessee don't think so; because Kentucky don't think so; and because the Southern States generally don't practice what their Northern allies pretend to protest against, and the latter must succumb eventually to their Southern brethren, as they did before the rebellion.

DECLINES.—Gen. Rosecrans has telegraphed from San Francisco to Hon. A. G. Thurman, of the Democratic Committee of Ohio, that he cannot accept the nomination for Governor of Ohio, on the ground that he is no longer a citizen of the State. Rosy, no doubt, sees the "hand-writing on the wall," as it is as plainly marked out in Ohio as in Pennsylvania. The Democracy are now in trouble; another State Convention will have to be called as the State Committee will not take the responsibility of making a new nomination.

TOO BAD.—The usually well informed editor of the Beaver Radical must be considerably muddled in regard to the representative men, now prominent as officers in the Democratic party. We are somewhat ignorant of the shining lights of to-day in the Democratic party, but the following notice from the Radical of Mr. Mishler, (however much we don't care about Mutchler, politically considered) is too bad, as it hits entirely the wrong man:

"William Mishler, of Easton, is appointed Chairman of the Democratic State Committee vice Galbraith, who saw the hand-writing upon the wall and declined. He is the inventor and proprietor of the celebrated 'Mishler's Stomach Bitters,' but promises to quit whiskey and drugs, and give his whole capacious genius to this campaign."

☞We heard a good one the other day, and we will tell it as it was told us. Perhaps our readers will remember that Bill Wallace has a weakness for coffee pots and coffee colored naturalization papers. Well, a short time ago, Coffee-Pot Bill and Beef Bill (Bigler) arranged matters to travel through Clearfield county on an electioneering tour, merely by way of a little relaxation, of course. Their mode of conveyance was a carriage. Before starting a wag found out the intention of these "disinterested patriots," and tied an old coffee pot to the running gears of their carriage. They traveled over a greater portion of the county, lugging the old coffee pot with them, until some kind friend called their attention to it and wanted to know what it meant. Well, it is said that the scene that took place there and then was awful to behold. Sir William ranted and foamed at the mouth, clenched his fists, gritted his teeth and ruthlessly tore the coffee pot from its resting place and dashed it to the ground. The Ex-Governor heaped curses loud and long upon the head of the practical joker, and swore that if there was any virtue in "eternal vigilance," he would bring the infamous scoundrel to grief, if it cost him the "price of liberty."

We learn from Washington that in consequence of the spurious issue of the ten-dollar greenback or legal-tender note, Secretary Boutwell has concluded to have a new issue of all denominations of greenbacks from the one to the thousand-dollar note. The plates for these notes are now being engraved at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The designs are entirely new, and no likeness of any living man will be placed on any note.—None of the former or present greenbacks were printed at the Treasury Department. The engraving, however, of the new series, and the printing of the faces and the seals of all the denominations, will be performed in the Engraving and Printing Bureau, while the backs will be printed in New York. There will be every possible caution to prevent frauds, including the taking of lead impressions for electrotype plates.

☞The GLOBE declares that the friends of Cass and McCandless assert that Mr. Packer bought his nomination.—Monitor.

We did say so, and say it yet. Now see what the Monitor makes us say: "Gens. Cass and McCandless not only did not make the assertion the GLOBE charges them with, but," &c., &c.

Now, did the GLOBE assert that Cass and McCandless said so, or that their friends said so and so? You talk about brazen-faced falsehood. Don't you see who's the liar?

As to the GLOBE indulging "in the vilest abuse and meanest of falsehoods concerning" Mr. Pershing, we pronounce as false as the other, and refer the reader to our files for proof. Stick to your text, young man, or you will again come out at the little end of the horn.

☞Does it not strike the reader as a little strange that the Democratic party should be continually stepping backward instead of forward? Their own papers admit that fact. Why, if they keep on in the same track a few years longer, they will find themselves back beyond the dark ages. What a pity that in this enlightened day we should have a party in this great country of ours, so ignorant that they do not know the world moves and that we are progressing every day. The Democratic party—(if we may be allowed to calculate after the fashion of the New York World's mathematician) is about eighteen hundred and sixty-nine and a half years behind the age.

☞The National debt was reduced $7,435,744,29 during the month of July. The total reduction of the debt since Grant assumed the Presidency (five months) amounts to $43,896,523,-72. And this is called Radical mis rule—Radical extravagance—by our extremely economical Democratic friends Yes, indeed, we are fast drifting into bankruptcy, under the management of our finances by Secretary Boutwell. The only trouble is, the public debt is disappearing too rapidly to suit the purposes of the enemies of the Government. Let her drift in the same channel until the whole debt is cancelled.

☞We have a few questions to propose to Democratic voters, which they can reflect upon, and answer at the polls:

You have a candidate named Asa Packer, who is worth 20,000,000. Will you vote for him because he is rich?

Asa Packer is a railroad monopolist. Will you vote for him and sustain monopolies?

Do you think Asa Packer would have been nominated, if he had been a poor man? If he would not, what entitles him to your support?

Will the prosperity of our State be increased any more by having a wealthy Governor than by having one that is not wealthy?

So much for the "Poor Man's Candidate! Judge Packer has grown immensely rich on the toil of the poor, and has always made it a point to purchase that toil at the lowest figure. So that wealth flowed into his coffers it mattered not to him how much suffering and privation was endured by the men in his employ. Are the toiling millions willing to vote for such a man to be Governor of this great State?

The Democratic Candidate for Governor.

The following from the Philadelphia Press so truthfully reflects our sentiments that we transfer the entire article to our columns:

Many of the Democratic journals assiduously republish from day to day the testimonials to the character of Mr. Packer, given years ago by distinguished Republicans, and then indulge in a childish crow at having, as they say, "caught" somebody. "Has Mr. Packer changed?" they exclaim, with infantile glee. "Has the Democratic nomination made a different man of him?"

They are rather pitiable than amusing, these weak and pointless paragraphs—they bespeak a poverty both of brain and conscience on the part of their writers.

As far as we are concerned we feel no desire to retract, alter, modify, or unsay a single word that has ever appeared in THE PRESS concerning Mr. Packer. In many respects he has a record of which the State may well be proud. His career, although perhaps hard on some of the workingmen in his employ, has contributed a good deal towards the development of Pennsylvania. If we had more citizens like Asa Packer, the Commonwealth would be more developed than it is as yet. Mr. Packer has exhibited great talent in the way of amassing wealth and laying up riches, and although the faculty of scraping together vast possessions is of the lowest order of talent, those who achieve distinction in that line are entitled to due credit therefor.

The Republican party does not make war on the candidates but on the principle of the Democracy. Personal vituperation and abuse of Messrs. Packer and Pershing will not enter into the campaign as a method of attack. We should feel humiliated did any Republican journal use towards either of these gentlemen the language in which Judge Williams and Governor Geary are habitually spoken of by the Democratic press of Pennsylvania.

While we do not object to Mr. Packer's private or personal character, we do, however, denounce the great wrong which has been done both him and the people of the State in his nomination. When the Democracy at Harrisburg planned the nomination of the richest man they could get, they committed two great crimes:

First. The nomination was an open and unblushing attempt to obtain money under false pretences from the nominee.

Secondly. It was an unconscientious and defiant attempt to buy up the State and carry the election by the power of gold.

This whole scheme does not display statesmanship, but only cunning, and merits the condemnation of every honest man of whatever party. That condemnation can be best and most effectually given by a vote at the next election for the Republican State ticket.

☞It is a well established fact that we Americans cannot exist without having a new hobby of some sort or other. The latest is, the importation of Chinese house servants. Chicago, with all her wickedness, generally leads off in any new experiment, and now we learn that one of her largest hotels is to be supplied with John Chinaman Servants, freshly imported. A number of private families have also been booked for a supply. It is said the Chinese make the best house servants in the world. We presume we shall soon know more about it. If they stand the test, the demand for them will be large.

☞We don't wish to be considered inquisitive, or impudent, or troublesome or meddlesome, or a Paul Pry, or anything or anybody that attends to everybody's business but their own, but we have a penchant for knowing things. This mind of ours is continually at work, and naturally enough, it becomes a little curious at times to know what's what, who's who and which is which, etc., &c So, in the most timid manner possible—and for information only—"only that and nothing more"—we simply desire to ask: Who is Mutchler?

The Harrisburg Telegraph attributes the nomination of Asa Packer for Governor, to the wire pulling of "Brick" Pomeroy and the expediture of $100,000. The sum mentioned is not extraordinary from a Democratic standpoint; but that "Brick" Pomeroy should secure the nomination of anybody is a disgrace from which anybody ought not to be expected to recover. The chap who was kicked to death by a jackass had abundant reason to be thankful that matters were not worse; but the man who is helped by "Brick" Pomeroy has no excuse for killing himself in the most expeditious manner possible. We have some little respect for Asa Packer, but if he was nominated by "Brick" Pomeroy, and consents to live in full view of the melancholy fact, his friends will consult their own interests, and his, by shooting him on sight.

The Indianapolis Journal hits the mark hard when it says:

Thus in five months of Grant's administration the debt will have been decreased forty millions of dollars, a fact which will go far to outweigh in the minds of the people of the country the malevolent and mendacious attacks of the Democratic press at the inefficiency of the President and his Cabinet. So long as the debt is being reduced at the rate of more than one hundred millions of dollars per annum, the revenues of the country collected faithfully and efficiently, and economical expenditures maintained in every department, the American people will be free to forgive some little apparent errors in the appointment of the cross roads postmasters.

That Packer Corruption Fund has a powerful fascination for all the opposition editors. They can't think, talk or write about any thing but money. With money-bags for their candidate, they may be expected to harp upon that single string as long as the cash holds out.

Political Powder-Flask.

The Democrats ridicule Grant's bathing at Long Branch. There is no Democratic precedent for bathing on record.

The sixteen Governors of Pennsylvania have all been natives of the Commonwealth. The Democrats now want to try a "Connecticut carpet-bagger."

The Democratic candidate for Governor said at Philadelphia that speech-making was not his vocation. But there is a matchless eloquence in the open mouths of his money bags!

"Who are the Democratic candidates?" said an enthusiastic Democrat. "Packer and Price," was the reply. "What Price?" "Two hundred thousand dollars," said the Cass man from Harrisburg.

When the Democracy discover that the money-bags of Packer have failed to corrupt the majorities of Pennsylvania, the unfortunate millionaire will become an offence in their nostrils—a sort of political Asa-fœtida.

A cotemporary says:—"On Wednesday the Democratic party of Pennsylvania was put up at auction to the colossal railway corporation of the country. The New York combination bid highest and got the concern."

The Packer Democracy will need the last dollar they can squeeze out of their candidate to save him from being distanced in the autumn race. He is bound to be beaten; the only remaining question is how much?

The Democratic journals of Pennsylvania are in a muss about their candidate's name for Supreme Judge, some of them printing it Pershing, and some, in accordance with the "eternal fitness of things," Perishing. —Chicago Post.

Poor Packer! Poor Democracy!—Why will not our opponents be at least a little consistent? Hear what the Troy Times says:

The Democratic candidate for Governor in Pennsylvania is unnecessarily severe upon Andrew Johnson. He pledges himself, in case of his election, to "a cautious and sparing use of the power to pardon offenders." Why kick the dead animal that once wore a lion's skin?"

A Democratic journal says the Germans, who have deserted the Democracy, used to be the backbone of the party. Just so. And a great many of the leading representative men of the Republican party used to be the brains of the Democratic party. The bone and sinew thereof, the yeomanry of the land, are now the bone and sinew of the Republicans. This leaves nothing for the Democracy but matter, and a very poor quality of matter it is.—Chicago Post.

The Ohio Democracy are not all for Rosecrans. Another Convention is to assemble under the following call, which appears in the Bucyrus Journal:

A Convention of the Democracy of Ohio will be held at New Washington, Crawford county, on Wednesday, 28th July, to nominate a State ticket.

None but those known as Copperheads during the war need attend.

Published according to the wishes of straightout Democrats.

A similar movement in Pennsylvania will be next in order. The call should read: "None but those in favor of a poor man's candidate need attend."

☞An obdurate parent spoiled a wedding in Albany, N. Y., on Sunday. A well known lady who was betrothed to a popular young grocer, was forbidden by her mother to have anything to do with her lover. She persisted, and the marriage which had been appointed for November was fixed for Sunday last. It was to be a very quiet affair, and the old lady was not invited. The bride that was to be indiscreetly allowed one of her cards to fall into the hands of her hard-hearted "parient," and the latter prepared for the emergency. The daughter left her home on Sunday afternoon, met her lover and friends at the house of an acquaintance, and at once proceeded toward the church to be made one. As they neared the edifice they were met by the infuriated mother, who stepped before the wedding party, forbade the nuptials to go on, assailed the bridegroom in the most ruthless manner, and by her conduct dispersed the happy gathering as effectually as a bombshell would a crowd in an enemy's camp. The party and the wedding were effectually broken up, and the mother carried the daughter home in triumph.

☞The death of Isaac Toucey, ex-Secretary of the Navy, reminds us that every member of Buchanan's original administration—with the exception of Jacob Thompson, his Secretary of the Interior, and Jeremiah S. Black, his Attorney General—is now in his grave viz: President Buchanan himself; Secretary of State, Lewis Cass; Secretary of War, John Buchanan Floyd; Postmaster General, Aaron V. Brown; Secretary of the Treasury, Howell Cobb, and now, Secretary of the navy Isaac Toucey. Joseph Holt, Edwin M. Stanton, and Philip Frank Thomas, who were called in on the retirement of Cass and the secession of Cobb, Thompson and Floyd, are still living.

A serious riot occurred at Mobile on the 5th inst. It began at the out-door of a Republican meeting to celebrate the triumph of the Republican candidate for Congress in that district. A white man trod on a negro's foot, a pistol shot was fired, and at it they went, until the military quelled the disturbance. Three negroes were killed and twelve wounded.

A terrible fire occurred in Philadelphia, at Fourth and Lombard streets, on Wednesday last. The warehouses of Wm. C. Patterson, containing about $5,000,000 worth of whiskey, were destroyed. It is stated that two women and a child were killed, and a number of persons reported injured.

The Sheriff of Norfolk, Va., served notices of ejectment on the negro squatters in that county. The Sheriff left his vehicle in the road, and when he came back, the negroes had stuck their notices to the carriage, and told the Sheriff that they did not recognize civil law in that county, and that the military would have to remove them. Thus the matter stands.

CELEBRATED

PERFECTED SPECTACLES AND EYE GLASSES.

The large and increasing sales of these

SUPERIOR GLASSES

Is a sure proof of their usefulness. We were satisfied that they would be appreciated here as elsewhere, and that the reality of the advantages offered to wearers of our beautiful lenses, viz.: the ease and comfort, the assured and readily ascertained improvement of the sight, and the brilliant assistance they give in all cases, were in themselves so apparent on trial, that the result could not be otherwise than it has, in the almost general adoption of our CELEBRATED PERFECTED SPECTACLES by the residents of this locality

With a full knowledge of the value of the assertion, we claim that they are the most perfect optical aids ever manufactured. To those needing Spectacles, we afford at all times an opportunity of procuring the best and most desirable.

BAUGH'S

RAW BONE

SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

TRADE MARK.

STANDARD WARRANTED.

We offer to Farmers, the present fall season, BAUGH'S RAW BONE SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME as being highly improved.

Baugh's Raw Bone Super Phosphate is, as its name indicates, prepared by dissolving Raw Bones in Oil of Vitriol—that is, bones that have not been deprived of their organic matter—the grease and glue—by burning or boiling. It, therefore, presents to the use of the farmer all the valuable properties of Raw Bone is a highly concentrated form—rendering it at once quick in action and very permanent.

☞Farmers are recommended to purchase of the dealer located in their neighborhood. In sections where no dealer is yet established, the PHOSPHATE may be procured directly from the undersigned.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

In what a wondrous age we live,
Not many seem to know;
But few the mighty change perceive,
Since fifty years ago;
Our ancestors did never dream,
When things moved very slow,
Of what we're doing now by steam—
Say fifty years ago.
Gentlemen's and Boys Boots and Shoes then
Were made with little show,

Subscribers to the Globe are rapidly coming in: Don't stop till we tell you.

Eleven and a quarter tons of hay were taken from a two-acre lot in Bedford county.

Potatoes were down to 50 cents per bushel last week. What party makes hard times?

Two trains now run east on Sunday—the Southern Express and Cincinnati Express.

Quite a number of our citizens are attending the different camp meetings in this county

J. Irvin Steel has received the Democratic nomination for the Legislature, in Schuylkill county.

The Catholics will hold another pic-nic at Burchinell's grove next Friday and Saturday. The public is invited.

We were mistaken in saying that Jones of the Tyrone Herald had taken a Mrs. for his wife. She was a Miss Harper.

E. L. Study & Bro's. dry goods store and Goldman & Kegel's clothing store in Tyrone were recently robbed of many valuables.

Martin Gilligan, of Ansonville, Clearfield county, had his neck broken by a tree falling upon him that he was felling.

A colored woman named Mary Godwin died in Carlisle last week, aged 38 years, who weighed almost four hundred pounds.

There were more suns with smutty faces on Saturday last than there were suns with eclipsed phases.

Rev. G. W. Zahniser will preach at four o'clock next Sabbath afternoon, at the Court House yard. The public cordially invited.

Anthony O'Donnell, a miner in employ of the Cambria Iron Co., was fatally injured by being struck on the head by a car.

Not until the 28th of May, 1900, will there be another total eclipse of the sun in the United States. Who will live to see it?

We saw a woman on our streets the other day who laces so tight that her neck and waist were about the same thickness. Perhaps she was deformed naturally.

Rev. J. P. Linn, charged before an ecclesiastical court at Pittsburg with unministerial indiscretion, was acquitted. The offence was, "kissing one or two young ladies!"

The safe of the Prothonotary of Venango county, at Franklin, was broken open and about fifteen dollars in currency taken therefrom.

Families wanting choice fresh peaches from Delaware can be supplied at Enterprise Headquarters every week during the season, by the box, bushel or smaller quantities.

Our thanks are tendered Mr. Theo. H. Cremer for his kindness in permitting us to view the damage done by the storm from his observatory, on Thursday morning last.

John Campbell, who killed Henry Murphy, a former colored resident of this place, in Hollidaysburg last February, has been sentenced to five years imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary.

The safe in the Paymaster's office, at the U. S. Arsenal, at Philadelphia, was robbed of $21,000 recently. The money was found a few days afterward. Some of the attaches of the Arsenal are under arrest.

We would like to have been in the different parts of the county, where the storm raged on Wednesday night last, but indeed we can't be everywhere. Who will be our correspondent?

The Lewistown, Pa., Gazette publishes the names of thirty residents of that place, who are over 70 years of age. One of them, a colored man named Richard Barnes, claims to be 104.

Wm. H. Woods is on the Republican State Committee for Huntingdon county; Robert L. Gamble for Mifflin; W. H. Patterson for Juniata; Josiah D. Hicks for Blair, and A. A. Barker for Cambria.

A young gentleman of Logansport, Ill., has sued a barber for spoiling his moustache in trying to color it, and laid his damages at $50. We would advise our barbers to be especially careful of those young men who are just starting their first crop.

A certain Virginia town does not allow old maids. When the girls arrive at thirty, the young men draw lots and the lucky ones make up a purse for the victim. We are inclided to think our young men wouldn't invest in such an enterprise.

Another Terrific Storm.

We will not say that the fury of the elements is vented especially on Huntingdon this season; but it does seem to us that we are getting some of the most terrible storms on record, for this latitude. A few weeks ago we had the painful duty of recording the death by lightning of two of our citizens in the midst of a furious thunderstorm, and to-day we chronicle the devastation committed by another that surpassed the former one in fury, and which, while it did not destroy life, played sad havoc with valuable shade trees, gardens, etc.

The storm commenced about nine o'clock on Wednesday evening last, and heralded its coming from the north-west, where it had been playing for some time, by flashes of lightning, thunder, and a stiff breeze. The clouds lowered and kept lowering overhead until about half-past nine, when a torrent of hail and rain descended, accompanied by gusts of wind that lifted everything movable that was in its way, such as signs, boards, etc., and carried them a considerable distance. The storm continued nearly an hour, during which time the lightning continued without intermission, and the rain fell almost incessantly. There was but little thunder, however, and the lightning was similar to that occasioned by heat, only more vivid.

Many of our citizens were out early on Thursday morning to view the devastation. Every street bore marks of the violence of the storm, but the part of town which suffered the most was at and near the Court House.—Here, most of the beautiful trees in the yard, back and front, were shockingly lacerated, and the ground was covered with the branches. Many of the trees are worthless. The yards east of the Court House presented a dismal appearance; young fruit trees were broken, grape vines were shattered, and the fruit and vegetables were considerably spoliated. Mr. T. H. Cremer's beautiful yard of choice fruit trees and grapes suffered terribly.

Other parts of the town we visited continued to show where the storm-king had been. Large trees, here and there, could be seen lying on almost every street, which had been torn up by the roots, and in almost every garden the corn was down, limbs of trees twisted off, and many fences broken. Many were lamenting the loss of some tree or shrubbery that the storm had ruined.

In West Huntingdon we saw few trees broken down, as those planted are young and hardy, but gardens suffered to the same extent as those in the eastern part of the town. Here, as in many houses in the old town, people were made to beat a hasty retreat from their couches, as the wind beat the rain through the roof, and it poured down on their heads and bedclothing in a torrent. Many garrets were flooded, and even slate roofing afforded little barrier to the pelting showers.

We have heard of no damage being done west of Huntingdon, but southeast, in the direction of Trough Creek, the storm was equally terrific. The side wall of a new brick church at Ennisville, in the northern part of the county, was blown down, and one hundred or more trees were destroyed at Mr. Harry Wharton's place, up Stone Creek, a few miles from town.

Altogether, it was one of the most terrible storms known to our inhabitants; but we are happy to state that no loss of life occurred, and no buildings were either blown down or seriously damaged. We heard of some fearful and some ludicrous incidents of the storm, which, suffice it to say, can be better told by those who were "on the spot."

The Eclipse.

The great event of Saturday last was the eclipse of the sun. Although the exhibition was not advertised to commence until five minutes after 5, many of our citizens, including men and women, and boys who had never seen the like before, had their smoked glass ready, and would occasionally take a peep at Old Sol, just to see how it looked through smoked glass. Impelled by the fashion we made a trial in smoking glass, but, like others, we ignobly failed in making the glass keep its position over the candle without breaking. We persevered, however, until we had partially smoked a piece about half the size we commenced on, and were just in time to see the face of the sun becoming obscured by the moon's disk, at the south-east corner, magically considered. Almost everybody was out to see it, and many didn't get tired looking until the shadow had gone off the sun, about two hours afterwards. We were more enraptured with the magnificent and sublime shade that was thrown over the earth's surface than we were by the shade on the sun. The earth, the atmosphere, and the sky looked beautiful, the crescent-shaped shadows of the leaves of trees were everywhere visible, and the sombre mantle that was thrown over the mountains, valleys and fields was lovely in the extreme, and bore a close resemblance to the view that presents itself when nature is observed through a yellow-tinted glass.

P. S.—The sun went down as usual, and rose as usual on Sunday morning.

A Mysterious Affair.

On Wednesday night last, shortly after the heavy storm, Mr. J. M. Boring, of this place, came near losing his life by falling into an opening in Stone Creek bridge, caused by three planks having been removed. The night being very dark, Mr. B. did not see the hole in the bridge, and barely saved himself with his hands. He hurt his hip in the fall. As he was raising himself he saw by a flash of lightning a man coming towards him from beneath one of the arches at the side of the bridge, who followed him a short distance. Mr. B. threw some stones at him and fled, but the man made no further attempt to follow him. The case is involved in mystery, but no doubt the trap was laid for some one, and some foul play was intended.

The following sentences were pronounced against the two parties found guilty of arson in Altoona: Thomas A. Beale to pay a fine of $500 and undergo imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for the term of ten years; Thomas J. Duke to pay a fine of $500 and undergo imprisonment for five years for arson, and $5 fine and six months imprisonment for larceny.

Sudden Death.

It becomes our painful duty to announce the sudden death of Mr. John Stroup, a freight conductor and well-known citizen of this place, on Wednesday last. On the morning of that day he took the Huntingdon and Broad Top Coal train to Harrisburg, and at four o'clock the intelligence was received by his wife that he was dead. Mr. Stroup took his train in on time, and jumped off at the switch to see that it was right, and was in the act of giving the signal to the engineer that all was right when he fell. One of the dispatchers in the yard ran to him and found him breathing his last. His body was conveyed to the Washington House, corner of Sixth and Walnut streets, and physicians summoned, when they pronounced him dead, and that his death was caused by heart disease. For some time Mr. S. has suffered from heart disease, and the physicians suppose that the jar from suddenly jumping from the car ruptured a blood vessel and caused his sudden death.

The deceased was conductor of the train, and for ten years past has been in the employ of the railroad Co., who found in him a trustworthy and efficient man. He was a generous friend and devoted husband; his many acts of kindness had won for him a host of friends in this community; and the R. R. men with which he was associated bear testimony to his manly bearing and many social qualities. He was about forty-three years of age, and leaves a wife and daughter to mourn his loss. His remains were brought home on Thursday morning, and interred with Masonic honors, in the Cemetery on Saturday morning.

Seasonable Hints.

At this season of the year it requires the greatest caution in the observance of dietetic and sanitary regulations, in order to preserve the health and vigor of the system. There are few persons who, in the mid-summer months, do not suffer more or less from the diseases and derangements incident to the season. It is impossible to lay down a series of rules which will meet every individual case, but there are certain general regulations the observance of which is safe at all times. People are so constituted that they do not agree in their tastes, and the same articles of food have almost opposite effects upon different individuals. This fact is embodied in the homely saying:—"What is one man's meat is another man's poison." There is no fruit, for instance, so universally harmless and beneficial as the apple; yet we have known persons who dare not eat an apple, as the most serious derangements of the system were sure to follow. So it is through the whole list of fruits, vegetables and meats. Each individual, who has arrived at the proper age, ought to be able to decide for himself what is harmless and what injurious—or, in common parlance, what "agrees with the system," and what does not. Having ascertained this, he should confine himself to that which is agreeable, and discard everything belonging to the hurtful class—Then, excesses in eating and drinking—overloading the stomach with agreeable food—ought to be carefully avoided. "Too much of a good thing" may prove as pernicious as any article positively bad. "Be temperate in all things," is an injunction always applicable, but especially so in the dog days. Nine-tenths of the sickness of the present day results from reckless disregard of the plainest hygienic rules.

The White House.

Very few persons know the value of the White House to this country. We do not mean by this the palace at Washington, but the white painted dwelling, wherever it may be. White paint not only preserves from rotting, but by forming a hard coating prevents soft wood from giving out its organic decay to the atmosphere, and renders the air healthy. Country physicians have observed that there is twice as much low fever, typhoid and the like, in unpainted houses, as in those which are properly protected.—White paint is of more real importance than all the carpets and mirrors in the world. Those who would obtain the article of the best quality should apply to McKnight & Co., Twenty-second and Race streets, Philadelphia, Penna. This firm makes a specialty also in Permanent Syrian Green and a Japan Dryer, which they guarantee to be of a superior quality, and cheaper than the same can be manufactured elsewhere. McKnight & Co. also manufacture a chemically pure Carbonate of Lead, and import every conceivable grade and quality of Lead and Zinc Paints. Colors, &c., at the very lowest prices. Kremnitz is the name of a city in Prussia, whence comes the whitest of white lead, and McKnight & Co. have adopted it as the name of their celebrated brand of pure white-lead paint, whose manufacture has made their name famous in the trade. Dealers or parties interested please send for price circulars.

Run Off.

A serious accident occurred to Miss Lizzie Hatfield, daughter of Mr. Saml. Hatfield, of Alexandria on Wednesday last. Mr. Hatfield had bought two blooded horses, one of which his son was trying in a new buggy. Miss H. was in the buggy with her brother, when the horse took fright, and run against a gate, breaking the buggy to pieces and injuring Miss Hatfield so badly that fears were entertained for her recovery. Her brother had both ankles sprained.

Go and See.

Bartol & Dale have received from the city a new lot of goods, to which they invite inspection by the public.—Their storeroom is the one formerly occupied by Johnston & Wattson, in Smith's new building, and the public will find them ever ready to show goods and sell at low figures. Those who deal there find them both pleasant gentlemen, and they have a standing invitation in our columns to the citizens of this place and vicinity, to call and see them. See advertisement.

The Chronicle, recently started in Boise City, Idaho, greeted its readers with the following original salutatory: "We have started a newspaper. Name—Capital Chronicle. Principles—Democratic to the hilt. Object—To make a living. Office—On Main street, about 300 yards below the Overland Hotel; opposite an old oyster can in the road. And we'll run it or bust."

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Messrs. Editors: In my last I spoke of the doings of the drones of our town to prevent enterprise in our midst; but the drones are not altogether to blame. True, their discouragements have to a great extent proved a barrier to progress, and discouraged enterprise in every direction; but why should they be heeded by those who do know what our town needs to advance it? Shall they be feared continually, and shall our town never prosper in works of art because they raise their voice against them? We hope not.—We can get along without them. They may if they choose, live at their ease, and enjoy their wealth as they see proper; but can not something be done by our enterprising men to build up our town and enable it to cope with others as a manufacturing town? If they have not the money to start anything, this should not be a discouragement. We have instances of men who have made fortunes who started with $10, and less. They made them by their own industry and energy. But it is not the idea of making fortunes that we would encodrage. It is merely the improvement of our town, one of the oldest in the State; it is to develop its resources, give work to the unemployed, feed the poor, and encourage the promotion of all the industrial branches. We covet not the wealth of the man of opulence, who has not invested his money in something which gives employment to the poor, laboring man in our midst. That man enjoys his wealth the most who is helping to make others happy, by giving them the chance to make an honest and honorable living. Can not our men of enterprise help to bring about such results in our own midst. Let them not be discouraged by hearing from the drones that it won't pay, but taking advantage of every favorable opportunity that presents itself, let them work diligently for the promotion of everything that will improve our town, morally, socially, intellectually and industrially. IMPROVEMENT.

Church Destroyed by Storms.

Eds. Globe:—The Bethel Presbyterian Church on Shaver's Creek, about three miles above Petersburg, Huntingdon county, Pa., was very badly injured by recent storms, so that it is nearly a total wreck. At first sight the damage appeared to be but slight. The roof was broken and moved somewhat out of place. Four men went up into the garret to repair the damage, when the girder on which had been broken, dropped about three feet, precipitating about half the joists and ceiling into the body of the church, injuring, but not fatally, two of the men, and breaking the pews, &c. The walls are forced out of plumb and many of the timbers are warped and broken. It will cost considerable to repair or rebuild it. The congregation, which is a weak one, had at much expense and self-denial, repainted the house outside and in, refitted it with carpet, matting, &c. Now they must, I fear, begin anew. They are not able to rebuild without help. Who will come to their assistance?

The men who were injured by the falling timbers &c., are Mr. Wm. Livingstone and G. W. Wilson. They both received severe scratches and bruises. No limbs were broken. Yours, Truly,

E. L. McCUNE.

☞ On Friday last, we received an invitation from the "fair ones" of Mt. Union to attend a Pic nic, to be held at Dysart's Grove, half a mile below Newton Hamilton. The "pick-nicks" had fitted up a flat-boat for the occasion, and left Mt. Union at 11 o'clock, a. m, down the "raging canawl," feeling gay and happy, and determined to have a pleasant excursion. Arriving in good time at the grove the party concluded it would be better to worry down a few of the "good things" prepared by the ladies, before proceeding any further. Dinner over, and our appetites all satisfied, some of the "pick-nickers" amused themselves in a game of croquet, others putting in the time having pleasant "chats," and all enjoying themselves in general. The hour arrived for us to take up our line of march to the station, to be in time for the mail train to take us to our homes. We would like to give a longer account of the trip, but have not room to say any more. ***

DEAR FRIENDS:—We have received the beautiful Chamber Sett, voted us by the patrons of Enterprise Headquarters, during the month of July, and now, through the Press, by which alone we may hope to reach all our friends, we present our thanks. Our prayer is that He who hath all power may remember you all who have remembered one of His.

"S. T.—1860—X.—Early in the battle I was wounded, and carried to this spot by two clever 'Yanks.' They bade me farewell, and as they supposed, to die, for I was so weak from loss of blood that I could but faintly thank them for their kindness. AGRICULTURAL REVIEW.

The weather during the past week has been extremely favorable for field labor and such crops as are now in the ground. The great bulk of the oats crop in this region was cut during the week and much of it is housed. A fall of rain on cut oats does very little injury otherwise than to the straw, provided the shower is short lived and succeeded by a good drying atmosphere. Continuously wet weather, however, would soon destroy the grain as well as the straw. So far as our observation and researches have extended we are inclined to the opinion that the oat crop of this season, as regards both grain and straw, is better than it has been for several years past.

The weather since seeding time has been admirably adapted to the habit of the oat plant, which seems to thrive best in a cool and humid atmosphere. A bushel of the grain grown in a climate suitable to the utmost development of the plant frequently weighs over fifty pounds—such a climate as that of Nova Scotia, for instance, and also that of Prince Edward island, where most magnificent oats are raised, in weight almost rivalling Indian corn. The standard weight of oats throughout the United States is thirty two pounds to the bushel, which is somewhat too high, taken as a whole. It is only in favorable seasons that this weight is reached, and then only in part. In ordinary seasons twenty-five or thirty pounds is all that what are called good oats would weigh, while the great bulk of the crop would not average much over twenty.

The crop of early potatoes is much the best we have had for many years. It is immense. Potatoes have been bringing such exorbitant prices of late years as to induce farmers to turn their attention entirely in the direction of their culture as a source of profit and to devote a greater breadth of ground to that esculent than formerly. Under the influence of a propitious season and extended cultivation the result is seen in the enormous product of the country, which is so greatly beyond the consumptive demand that prices have fallen far below what is supposed to be a remunerative point when the high price paid for seed last spring is taken into consideration.—Those who paid two or three dollars a pound for fancy sorts, no better than those in ordinary cultivation, will, very likely, be extremely disgusted when they find at the end of the season that they have realized a loss.—The greater part of the late crop promises well, the stalks presenting a vigorous and healthy appearance. In some places the potatoes may have the rot, but the yield of the sound ones will be so bounteous this autumn as to compensate the growers in part for the low prices which must inevitably rule throughout the winter months.

Most of the buckwheat sown during last month is well above ground, and looks about as it usually does when it first appears. It is a plant of rapid growth, and its welfare depends very much upon the atmospheric contingencies. A full yield requires favorable weather throughout the whole period of its short existence. It can withstand neither extreme heat nor early frosts, both extremes being alike dangerous—the one withering the blossom, the other preventing the maturity of the grain.

The crops in Northern Illinois are good. The farmers count on twenty bushels wheat to the acre. The scab is in lightly, but not so as to occasion much alarm. As to corn fully three-quarters of it looks fair. The poor corn is in hollows and wet land. Oats are tremendous.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The black knot on plum trees can be cured by dipping a paint brush in spirits of turpentine and thoroughly saturating the knot.

A writer in the Horticulturist supplies the place of bean poles by using apple brush, which affords a shade to the vine and is a protection against high winds.

The peach is predisposed to a straggling growth, and the strength of the tree is often needlessly dissipated by its great height. The nearer to the root of the tree the main branches are made to grow the better.

A GOOD NIGHT KISS.—Always send your child to bed happy. Whatever cares may trouble your mind, give the dear child a good-night kiss as it goes to its pillow. The memory of this, in the stormy years which may be in store for the little one, will be Bethlehem's star to the bewildered shepperd and swelling up in the heart will rise the thought: "My father and mother loved me?" Lips parched with fever will become dewy at this thrill of youthful memories. Kiss your little child before it goes to sleep.

New U. S. notes, of the denomination of one and two dollars, will be ready for circulation about the first of September.

A "TAIL" OF A SNAKE.—"Animals," says the lawyer, "sometimes very nearly approach reason in their cunning.

"I got interested in the study of serpents down in Arkansas, where I spent most of last year. I don't know why, but I was constantly watching them and testing their sagacity, by placing them in new situations, and surrounding them with novel expedients. Of all kinds I experimented most with rattlesnakes and copperheads.

"One afternoon I seated myself on a knoll in the woods to smoke and read—for I always had a book or newspaper with me—and had been enjoying myself for some time, when I espied a copperhead making for a hole within ten feet of where I sat. Of course I threw down my book and cigar, and proceeded to try a new experiment.—As soon as I stirred the rascal made a rush for the hole; but I caught the tail as he got nearly in, and jerked him some twenty feet backward. He threw himself into a coil in no time, and waited for me to pitch in. But I concluded to let him try his hole again.

"After a while he started for it, stopping when I stirred to coil himself up; but as I kept pretty quiet, he recovered confidence and again went in. Again I jerked him out. No sooner did he hit the ground than he made a grand rush for the hole in a straight line for my legs! But that didn't work, for I got out of the way, and gave him another flirt.

"This time he lay still awhile, appearing to reflect on the course to be taken, after a time he tried it again, though rather slowly. After getting his head a little way in, he stopped and wriggled his tail, as if on purpose for me to grab it. I did so; and quicker than a flash he drew his head out, and came within a quarter of an inch striking me in the face. However, I jerked him quite a distance, and resolved to look out the next time. Well he tried the same game again, but it wouldn't work—I was too quick for him.

"This time he lay in a coil for half an hour without stirring. At last, however, he tried it once more. He advanced within five feet of the hole very slowly, coiled again, and then, by heavens! got the start of me by one of the cutest tricks you ever heard of."

"How was it?" we all exclaimed, in one breath.

"Why," said the narrator, sinking his voice to the same acme of solemnity and looking as honest and sober as a man could look, "why he just turned his head towards my head, and went down that hole tail first."

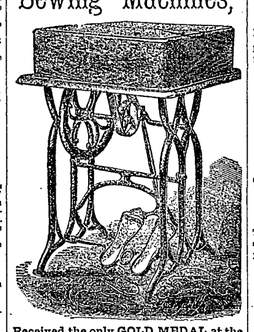
WHEELER & WILSON'S
HIGHEST PREMIUM
LOCK STITCH
Sewing Machines,



Received the only GOLD MEDAL at the PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.
They are adapted to all kinds of Family Sewing, and to the use of Seamstresses, Dressmakers, Tailors, Manufacturers of Shirts, Collars, Skirts, Cloaks, Mantillas, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Corsets, Linen Goods, Umbrellas, Parasols, etc. They work equally well upon silk, linen, woolen and cotton goods, with silk, cotton or linen thread. They will seam, quilt, gather, hem, fell, cord, braid, bind, and perform every species of sewing, making a beautiful and perfect stitch, alike on both sides of the article sewed.
The qualities which recommend them are:
1. Beauty and excellence of stitch, alike on both sides of the fabric sewed.
2. Strength, firmness and durability of seam, that will not rip nor ravel.
3 Economy of Thread.
4. Attachments and wide range of application to purposes and materials.
5. Compactness and elegance of model and finish.
6. Simplicity and thoroughness of construction.
7. Speed, ease of operation and management, and quietness of movement.
Instructions free to all. Machines kept in repair one year free of charge.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a
nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

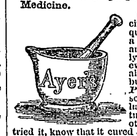
Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.



Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.
They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.
Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—
For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.
For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.
For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.
For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.
For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.
For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.
As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.
An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

McGUIRE'S
SPANISH HAIR DRESSER
FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR,
And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been universal in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries.—No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.
McGUIRE'S
Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion
For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and perfuming the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all pernicious substances—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition.
